

Cristiana Pegoraro

Other Concerts and a Special Award

My dearest friends,

this year continues to be very interesting.

I spent the months of March and April between travels and concerts, from Naples to Palermo, from Terni, my home town, to New York and Florida.

Cristiana Pegoraro will receive the “President of Italy Award” in Naples

The committee of the international prize "Sebetia-Ter" presided by Maestro Aldo Ciccolini will confer to Cristiana Pegoraro the silver plate of the Republic of Italy for music and composition.

The prize will also go to Claudio Abbado for music, Renzo Piano for architecture, and Enrico Mentana for journalism.

The ceremony will take place on May 26th at the Conservatory of Music San Pietro a Majella, Naples, at 6.30 PM.

In previous years, the Sebetia-Ter prize has been awarded to important figures in music like Riccardo Muti, Salvatore Accardo, Aldo Ciccolini, Severino Gazzelloni and Gustav Kuhn. Cristiana will be the youngest artist ever to win the prize in this category.

This award is the latest to be given to the Umbrian artist. In October 2005, at her 10th Lincoln Center concert, she was presented with the prestigious "World Peace Award" by the Italian Cultural Club of the United Nations for her commitment to promote Peace in the world.

CRISTIANA AT THE TEATRO SOCIALE IN COMO

Cristiana in Sicily

In March, I spent a wonderful weekend in Mondello, near Palermo, where I had the honor of playing at the home of shipowner Alfredo Barbaro, who owns a beautiful grand piano dated 1920.

Among the guests, the famous judge Ajala.

It has been a great occasion to meet many Sicilians, enjoy the culinary specialties of this region (including spleen sandwiches!) and use the time to organize some concerts for the summer.

Stay tuned for the dates!
